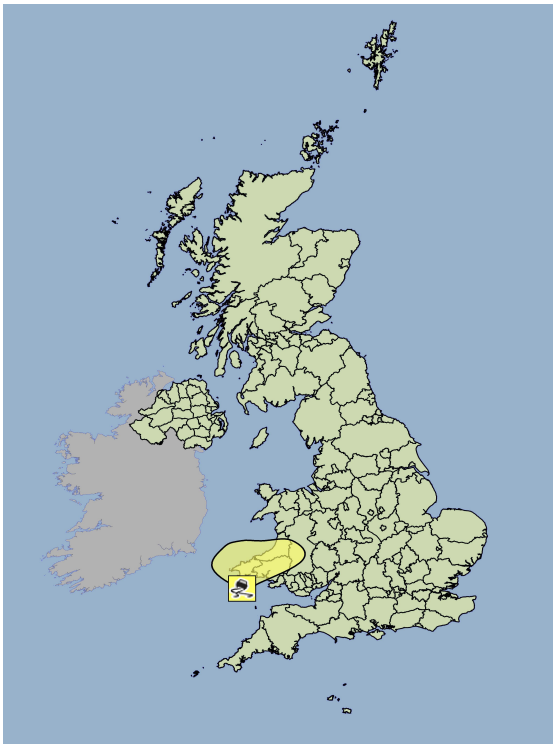
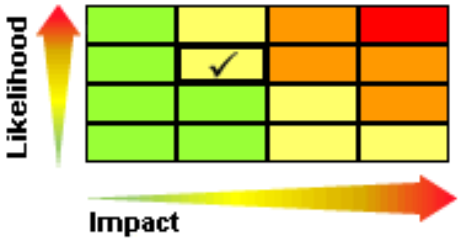
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An active cold front with waves will bring rain at times through Friday and into the night time period. As it clears, road surface temperatures will fall quickly and ice could form quite widely.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 00:00 on Sat, 16th Mar 2013 until 09:00 on Sat, 16th Mar 2013

Skies will clear in the early hours of Saturday morning after persistent rain. The public are advised to be aware of the risk of the formation of icy stretches on untreated roads and pavements.
